

Steve McLaughlin – Chief Officer (Marketing & Commercial)

As Chief Officer (Marketing & Commercial) at NEBOSH, Steve has responsibility for delivering all commercial revenues and marketing activity across the business. The NEBOSH brand is extremely strong across the markets NEBOSH operates in and our marketing effort focuses on maintaining our world class credentials for quality as the leading international provider of high-quality qualifications, training opportunities and learner engagement to promote and improve occupational health, safety, well-being and environmental management in workplaces worldwide. Steve has over 25 years' experience at board level in media, training and consultancy and has overseen a rapid growth of commercial activity at NEBOSH and led its international expansion.