

Panagiotis Sotiriadis is a Human Factors Engineer with Aeronautical background. He has an MSc in Ergonomics and Safety at Work from Cranfield University, UK and an MBA with distinction from Athens University of Economics and Business, GR. Presently, he is the Safety and Environment Director for Renewable Energy at the PPC Group, whilst he has been Head of Health and Safety in The Ellinikon, as well as Head of Health and Safety of the Hellenic Ministry of National Defence. With over of 25 years presence in the field as Safety Officer/Manager/Director, Panagiotis combines multi industry experience with academics and research background.